Re: Complaint against Obama for America

Dear Commissioners:

This letter constitutes a formal complaint filed under 2 U.S.C. § 437g(a) of the Federal Election Campuign Aut ("FECA") on behalf of the Republican National Committee ("RNC"). Based upon information and belief, set forth below and in the attached materials, the RNC believes that Obama for America ("OFA") has violated FECA and the Commission's Regulations by accepting prohibited contributions from foreign nationals and excessive contributions from individuals. The RNC believes that the specific examples below are indicative of a pattern of such violations and requests that the Commission conduct an immediate investigation into the adequacy of procedures to comply with federal election law restrictions on sources and amounts of federal campaign contributions, particularly those that do not require itemization. Based on the Requests for Additional Information ("RFAIs") the Commission has sout to OFA, including a 162 page RFAI, and pages reports concerning both foreign stational and excussive contributions, including an account in Manysmank, there appears to be grounds for a full audit of OFA is receipts in the 2007-2008 Presidential election cycle.

Obama for America Violated FECA by Accepting Prohibited Contributions from Foreign Nationals

Factual Background

Several media reports have recountly raised serious questions about UFA's fundamining practions, particularly its lenient procedures for screening contributions from foreign nationals. See generally Exhibits A, D – F. According to a recent Newsmax article, OFA has received more than 11,500 potentially prohibited contributions from foreign nationals, totaling approximately $33.8 million. See Exhibit A. Presumably the referenced list of 11,500 would consist entirely of contributions itemized on OFA's FEC reports and would not include the militums of contributions that OFA is not heavily required to itemize or disclose. The same media separt aim allogue that OFA's online donation website did not ask for proof of estimatehip until recently and generally did not thoroughly vet foreign nontributions to ensure that they were coming from U.S. citizens living abroad and not from foreign nationals. Id.

This report provided several specific examples of questionable fundraising practices involving foreign nationals. For example, a series of pro-Obama fundraisers were held in Nigerius throughout July and August, and although the sponsors claimed they were held to raise money to help Nigerius uttend the Democratic National Convention, the Nigerian government was so therefinal of this circum that it is may investigating the number. Id. The Nigerian Rannomic and Financial Commes Commission ("EFCC") in late August confiscated 74,100,000 Nigerius Naira (approximately $630,000) from the "Obama for Africa" campaign, which is a controversial group led by Mrs. Ndi Okereke-Onyuike, Director General of the Nigerian Stock Exchange. See Exhibit B. In response to public outrage, the EFCC has opened an investigation and questioned Okereke-Onyuike. Id.

According to reports, Libyan leader Moammar Gadhafi publicly stated in a speech that foreign mationals may have made contributions to Obama's unterplage. See Ethibits A and C. Foreign nationals were able to buy Obama paraphernalia at OFA's online store by making a constribution to OFA. Through this natchanism, two foreign antionals were able to constribute approximately $33,000 to OFA in October and Nevember of 2007. Sas Exhibits A, E - G. These donations appear on OFA's 2007 Year End FEC Report. Although OFA attempted to correct the violation by refunding the publicled contributions, the Newsmax article claims that FEC records indicate that they have yet to refund the entire amount. See Exhibit A. Further, the news of such violations did not lead the Obama campaign to alter this avenue for potential illegal foreign contributions at the time—OFA apparently has only done so much more recently.

A recent column published in The American Spectator status that an FEC analyst believes OPA has accepted millions of dollars in preliabled contributions from foreign nationals. See Exhibit D. The FEC analyst, apparently speaking on background, claims that he has brought the matter before his superiors, but they have largely disregarded his requests primarily for political considerations. Id.

¹ Nothing, this McCain Hilmany community, John MacCain 2008, and the McCain GBLAC committee disclose the names and addresses of every contributor, and make that database computer searchable online. The Obama campaign, however, has steadfastly refused to provide similar disclosure of its unitemized receipts under $200.

² OFA's website now requires overseas contributors to provide a valid U.S. passport number when donating online. It appears wholly unknown what, if any, control systems OFA had in place before instituting this step.

Analysis

FECA prohibits a foreign national from directly or indirectly making a "contribution or domation of memory or other thing as value... in connection with a Federal, State, or local election." 2 U.S.C. §441e(a)(1)(A). This prohibition includes, but is not limited to making contributions to a presidential candidate's campaign committee. Further, federal law also prohibits knowingly providing assistance to a foreign national in the making of such illegal contributions or knowingly accepting or receiving a contribution from a foreign national. 11 C.F.R. § 110.20.

Commission Regulations provide that a person has knowingly provided assistance when that person (1) has "actual knowledge" that the funds are coming from a foreign national; (2) is "aware of facts that would lead a measonable person to canclude that there is a substantial probability that the source of the funds . . . is a foreign national;" or (3) is "aware of facts that would lead a reasonable person to inquire whether the source of the funds . . . is a foreign national, but . . . fail[s] to conduct a reasonable inquiry." 11 C.F.R. § 110.20(a)(4). Such questionable facts include whether the contributor uses a foreign passport, a foreign address, a foreign bank, or is living abroad. 11 C.F.R. § 110.20(a)(5).

The media reports, supra, suggest that only recently, after the receipt of hundreds of millions of dollars in contributions, did OFA put the reseasons fundraising compliance practices in place to ensure that contributions from individuals living abroad were actually causing from U.S. citizens and not foreign nationals. The examples in the medial reports primarily involve contributions discinned on FBC reports. The extent to which such prohibited foreign national contributions constitute OFA's unitemized contributions, of course remains entirely unknown. The RNC believes that OFA has (1) accepted prohibited foreign national contributions and (2) knowingly done so through its failure to reasonably investigate questionable contributions originating abroad.

Obansa for Asserting Violated FECA by Accepting Exceptive Contributions from Individuals.

Factual Background

FEC reports indicate, and media accounts highlight, that OFA repeatedly accepts excessive contributions from individuals, including those with obviously fictitious names. See Exhibits A, D – F. The Newsmax article, discussed supra, emphasizes that OFA has a long track record of accepting excessive contributions and then having to either refund or redesignate the contribution. In fact, every single RFAI that OFA has received since its inception questions OFA about possible excessive contributions from individuals.

The RNC notes that the McCain campaign, like most ether large-scale committees, lies also received numerous RFAIs, some of which quantize passible execusive contributions. What distinguishes the Obana campaign's FeFAIs from other large committees is a pattern of noncompliance. QFA repeatedly did not adequately respond to the RFAIs and did not take immediate corrective action, or even any action within the timeframes required under Commission Regulations.

See Exhibit G. For one report, the RFAI was 162 pages long because the list of excessive contributions was so long. See id. Also consecuting is the fact that some of these excessive contributions appear to come from finitious individuals, such as "Good Will" and "Dooded Pro." See Exhibits A. F.

Newsweek conducted an investigation into the background of these contributors and discovered, rather unsurprisingly, that these are not real individuals. See Exhibit F. "Good Will," whose occupation and employer are, respectively, "Loving" and "You," listed an address in Austin, Texas that belongs to "Goodwill industries," a nonprofit corporation. Id. Newsweek interviewed a representative from Goodwill Industries who explained that the nunprofit did not know who was expansible for the contributions, but was attact they were bring made and absence OFA in Statember about the apparent fraudulent use of its name and address. Id. The athleses provided for "Doodid Pro" in Nunda, New York is actually that of a liquor store. Id. (According to Nawsweek, a representative from the store had never heard of Mr. or Ms. "Doodad," but did note that a nearby "Doodad's Boutique" had closed over a year ago. Id.)

Analysis

FECA clearly states that individuals may contribute a maximum of $2,300 per candidate per sleetien. 2 U.S.C. §§ 441a(a)(1)(A), (c). A committee has a duty to examine contributions and, should a committee knowingly accept an excessive contribution, the committee may either refund the examine portion to the contributor within sixty days or ask the contributor to redusignate the excessive portion to a different election within sixty days. 11 C.F.R. §§ 103.3(b), 110.1(b)(5). Should a committee unknowingly accept an excessive contribution, it has within thirty days of when the illegality is discovered to take such remedial action. Id.

OFA's amended FEC reports and responses to the Commission's RFAIs claim that OFA did take action to remedy several excessive contributions, but OFA has falled to refund or reastribute the full excessive postion in all of the situations. See Exhibit A. It is also questionable whether OFA took remedial action within the required timeframes. Presumably most of the excessive contributions should have been knowingly ancepted because they were disclosed on the FEC reports. It appears, however, that OFA did not take remedial action until the FEC pointed out the excessive contributions in RFAIs. It also appears that OFA knew about these excessive contributions, yet failed to take remedial action within the required sixty day window, instead waiting until the FEC sent an RFAI. It is possible that OFA was not aware of these excessive contributions until it received the RFAIs, in which case it would have thirty days to take remedial action, which it has failed to do several times. Again, FEC reports indicate that OFA did not refuse or restribute the full excussive portion in all of the situations. The RNC believes that OFA did amount excessive amount individuals and tild not take remedial action within the statusorily imposed time@reme.

The Commission Should Investigate All of Obama for America's Contributions from individuals

The RNC requests that the Commission immediately investigate the legality of all of OFA's contributions from individuals, paying particular attention to foreign national contributions and excessive contributions. Given that OFA is not legally required to itemize all contributions, and given that OFA did not accept public funding and is not subject to a mandatory post-election cycle audit, there is approximately $250 million in contributions from individuals who will otherwise never be disclosed to the American public. See Exhibit A. The RNC believes that widespread illegalities may exist among these uniteraized contributions and requests that the Commission immediately investigate both iteratized and uniteraized contributions to ensure a fair such open election.

Agrandingly, the RNC respectfully requests that the Commission conduct an immediate investigation into the violations outlined above, conduct a full audit of OFA's receipts in the 2007-2008 Presidential election cycle, and impose the maximum penalty under law.

The above is correct and accurate to the best of my knowledge, information, and belief.

Secret, Foreign Money Floods Into Obama Campaign

Monday, September 29, 2008 9:23 PM

By: Kenneth R. Timmerman

More than half of the whopping $426.9 million Barack Obama has raised has come from small donors whose names the Obama campaign won't disclose.

And questions have arisen about millions more in foreign donations the Obama campaign has received that apparently have not been vetted as legitimate.

Obama has raised nearly twice that of John McCain's campaign, according to new campaign finance report.

The Obama campaign and the Democratic National Committee began September with $95 million in cash, according to reports filed with the Federal Election Commission (FEC).

The McCain camp and the Republican National Committee had $94 million, because of an influx of $84 million in public money.

But Obama easily could outpace McCain by $50 million to $100 million or more in new donations before Election Day, thanks to a legien of small contributent column passes and addresses have been kept secret.

Unlike the McCain campaign, which has made its camplete donor database available online, the Obama campaign has not identified donors for nearly half the amount he has raised, according to the Center for Responsive Politics (CRP).

Federal law does not require the campaigns to identify donors who give less than $200 during the election syche. However, it does require that compligue calculates running totals for each description report them owns they go insyched the $200 mania.

Surprisingly, the great majority of Obama donors never break the $200 threshold.

"Contributions that come under $200 aggregated per person are not listed," said Bob Biersack, a spokesman for the FBC. "They don't appear anywhere, so there's no way of knowing who they are."

The FEC breakdown of the Obama campaign has identified a staggering $222.7 million as coming from contributions of $250 or less. Only $39.6 million of that amount comes from donors the Obama campaign has identified.

It is the largest pool of unidentified money that has ever flooded into the U.S. election system, before or after the McCain-Feingold campaign fixance reforms of 2022.

Biersack would not comment on whether the FEC was investigating the huge amount of cash that has come into Obama's coffers with no public reporting.

But Massie Ritsch, a spokesman for CRP, a campaign-finance watchdog group, dismissed the scale of the unreported money.

"We feel comformable that it isn't the $20 donations that are corrupting a campaign," he told Newsmax.

But those small denstions have saided up to more than $200 million, all of it from unknown and unreported donors.

Ritsch acknowledges that there is skepticism about all the unreported money, especially in the Obama campaign coffers.

"We and seven other watchdog groups asked both earspaigns for more information on small donors," he said. "The Obsana campaign never responded," whereas the McCain campaign "makes all its donor information, including the small donors, available online."

The rise of the Internet as a compaign funding total raises new questions about the adequacy of FEC requirements on disclosure. In pre-Internet fundraising, almost all political donations, even small ones, were made by bank check, leaving a paper trail and limiting the amount of fraud.

But credit cards used to make donations on the Internet have allowed for far more abuse.

"While FEC practice is to do a post-election review of all presidential campaigns, given their sluggish metabolism, results can take three or four years," said Ken Boehm, the chairman of the conservative National Least and Policy Conter.

Already, the REC has noted unusual patterns in Chama campaign documes among donors who have been disclosed because they have gone beyond the $200 minimum.

FEC and Mr. Doodad Pro

When FEC auditors have questions about contributions, they send letters to the campaign's finance committee requesting additional information, such as the complete address or employment status of the donor.

Many of the FEC letters that Newsmax reviewed instructed the Obama campaign to "redesignate" contributions in excess of the finance lission.

Under campaign finance laws, an individual can donate $2,300 to a candidate for federal office in both the primary and general election, for a total of $4,600. If a donor has topped the limit in the primary, the campaign can "redesignate" the contribution to the general election on its books.

In a letter dated June 25, 2008, the FEC asked the Obama campaign to verify a series of $25 donations from a contributor identified as "Will, Good" from Austin, Texas.

Mr. Good Will listed his employer as "Loving" and his profession as "You."

A Newsmax analysis of the 1.4 million individual contributions in the latest master file for the Obama campaign discovered 1,000 saparate entries for Mr. Good Will, most of them for $25,

In total, Mr. Good Will gave $17,375.

Following this and subsequent FEC requests, campaign records show that 330 contributions from Mr. Good Will were credited back to a credit card. But the most recent report, filed on Sept. 20, showed a net approximative backure of $3,950 — still well oner the $4,600 limit.

There can be no doubt that the Obama campaign noticed these contributions, since Obama's Sept. 20 report specified that Good Will's cumulative contributions since the beginning of the campaign were $9,375.

In an e-mailed response to a query from Newsmax, Obama campaign spokesman Ben LaBolt pledged that the campaign would return the donations. But given the slowness with which the campaign has responded to earlier FEC queries, there's no guarantee that the money will be returned before the Nov. 4 election.

Similarly, a donor identified as "Pro, Doorlad," from "Namio, NY," gave $19,500 in 786 acparate donations, most of them for $25. For most of these donations, Mr. Doodad Pro listed his employer as "Loving" and his profession as "You," just as Good Will had done.

But in some of them, he didn't even go this far, apparently picking letters at random to fill in the blanks on the credit card donation form. In these cases, he said he was employed by "VCX" and that his profession was "VCVC."

Following Fisc requests, the Olumn compaign begin refunding money to Doedari Pre in February 2008. In sai, about $6,425 was charged baris to a curbit casti. But that still last a rast tasts of $11,166 as of Sept. 20, way over the individual limit of $4,600.

Here again, LaBolt pledged that the contributions would be returned but gave no date.

In February, after just 93 donations, Doodad Pro had already gone over the $2,300 limit for the primary. He was over the $4,600 limit for the general election one month later.

In response to FEC complaints, the Obama campaign began refunding money to Deodad Pro even before he reached these limits. But his credit card was the gift that kept on giving. His most recent unrefunded constributions were on only 7, when he made 14 assessme Constitutes, approximately by oscilit card, of $25 each.

Just as with Mr. Good Will, there can be no doubt that the Obama campaign noticed the contributions, since its Sept. 20 report specified that Doudad's cumulative contributions since the beginning of the campaign were $10,965.

Foreign Donations

And then there are the overseas donations — at least, the ones that we know about.

The FEC has compiled a separate database of potentially questionable overseas donations that contains more than 11,500 contains totaling $33.8 million. More than 520 listed their "state" as "IR," after an abbreviation for Iran. Another 63 listed it as "UK," the United Kingdom.

More than 1,400 of the overseas entries clearly were U.S. diplomats or military personnel, who gave an APO address overseas. Their total contributions came to just $201,680.

But others came from places as far afield as Abu Dhabi, Addis Ababa, Beijing, Fallujah, Florence, Italy, and a wide selection of towns and cities in France.

Until recently, the Obama Web site allowed a containant to select the country where he resided from the entire membership of the United Nations, including such friendly places as North Korea and the Islamic Republic of Iran.

Unlike McCain's or Sen. Hillary Clinton's online donation pages, the Obama site did not ask for proof of citizenship until just recently. Clinton's presidential campaign required U.S. citizens living abroad to actually fax a copy of their passport before a donation would be accepted.

With such low visiting of foreign sentributions, the Chama campaign may have indirectly contributed to questionable fundraising by fineigners.

In July and August, the head of the Nigeria's steak market held a series of pro-Ohama fundaments in Lagos, Nigeria's largest city. The events attracted local Nigerian business owners.

At one event, a table for eight at one fundraising dinner went for $16,800. Nigerian press reports claimed sponsors raked in an estimated $900,000.

The sponsors said the fundraisers were held to help Nigerians attend the Democratic convention in Denver. But the Pilgurian press expressed skepticism of that claim, and the Nigerian public ami-freed commissions is seen investigating the matter.

Commorns about fessign fundrataing have been suited by other executoral encounts of illegal autivities.

In June, Libyan leader Moammar Gadhafi gave a public speech praising Obama, claiming foreign nationals were donating to his campaign.

"All the people in the Arab and Islamic world and in Africa applauded this man," the Lityan leader said.
"They welcomed him and prayed for him and for his success, and they may have even been involved in legitimass contribution sumpages to seable him to win the American presidents..."

Though Gadhafi asserted that fundraising from Arab and African nations were "legitimate," the fact is that U.S. federal law base any foreigner from donating to a U.S. election nampaign.

The rise of the Internet and use of credit cards have made it easier for foreign nationals to donate to American campaigns, especially if they claim their donation is less than $200.

Campaign spokesman LaBolt cited several measures that the campaign has adopted to "root out fraud," including a requirement that anyone attending an Obama fundraising event overseas present a valid U.S.

passport, and a new requirement that overseas contributors must provide a passport number when domaing online.

One new measure that might not appear obvious at first could be frustrating to foreigners wanting to buy campaign paraphernalia such as T-shirts or bumper stickers through the online store.

In response to an investigation conducted by blogger Pamela Geller, who runs the blog Atlas Shrugs, the Obama campaign has locked down the store.

Geller first revealed on July 31 that donors from the Gaza strip had contributed $33,000 to the Obama campaign through bulk purchases of T-shirts they had shipped to Gaza.

The qualine sempaign stone allows buyers to complete their purchases by making an additional donation to the Obama campaign.

A pair of Palestinian brothers named Hosam and Monir Edwan contributed more than $31,300 to the Obama campaign in October and November 2007, FEC records show.

Their largesse attracted the attention of the FEC almost immediately. In an April 15, 2008, report that examined the Obser campaign's year-end figures for 2007, the FEC asked that some of these contributions be reassigned.

The Ohama camp complied stuggishly, prompting a more detailed adminishment form the FEC on July . 30.

The Edwan brothers listed their address as "GA," as in Georgia, although they entered "Gaza" or "Rafah Refugee camp" as their city of residence on most of the online contribution forms.

According to the Obama campaign, they wrongly identified themselves as U.S. citizens, via a voluntary check-off box at the time the donations were made.

Many of the Edwan brothers' contributions have been purged from the FEC database, but they still can be faund in archived versions available for CRP and other wetchdog groups.

The latest Obama campaign filing shows that $891.11 still has not been refunded to the Edwan brothers, despite repeated FEC warnings and campaign claims that all the money was refunded in December.

A Newsmax review of the Obama campaign finance filings found that the FEC had asked for the redesignation or refund of 53,828 donations, totaling just under $30 million.

But trune invalves the donors who never appear in the Obsara cumpaign reports, which the CEP estimates at nearly half the $426.8 million the Obsara campaign has raised to date.

Many of the small doners participated in saline "matching" programs, which allows them to hook up with other Obama supporters and eventually share e-mail addresses and blogs.

The Obama Web site described the matching contribution program as similar to a public radio fundraising drive.

"Our goal is to bring 50,000 new dozous into our movement by Friday at midnight," campaign manager

David Plouffe e-mailed supporters on Sept. 15. "And if you make your first online donation today, your gift will go twice as far. A previous donor has promised to match every dollar you donate."

FEC spokesman Biersack said he was unfamiliar with the matching donation drive. But he said that if donations from another donor was going to be seastigned to a new donor, as the campaign suggested, "the two people must agree" to do so.

This type of matching drive probably would be legal as long as the matching donor had not exceeded the $2,300 per-election limit, he said.

Obama campuign spokesmen LaBell said, "We have more than 2.5 million donors overall, hundreds of thousands of which have participated in this program."

Until now, the names of those denotes and where they live have remained anonymous — and the federal watchdog agency in charge of ensuring that the presidential campaigns play by the same rules has no tools to find out.

Obama Watch: Friends in Low Places by Lisa De Pasquale (more by this airthor) Posted 09/11/2008 ET

The Chicago Sun-Times has been instrumental in uncovering the illegal business deals of Obama fundraiser and Syrian national Tony Rezko. They reported last week that Vice Presidential candidate Joe Biden has something else in common with Barack Obama. "No matter what help Barack Obama might get from Sen. Joseph Biden, his newly named vice presidential running mate won't give Obama much cover on the Tony Rezko front. Biden has described himself as a 30-year friend of a key figure in the Rezko trial who's pleaded guilty to a fuderal extortion charge in Chicago and is awaiting sentencing," wrote staff reporter Dave McKinney.

Joseph Cari, Jr. has been a supporter of several Democratic candidates, including Biden. The Washington Times reported, "Mr. Biden has acknowledged knowing Rezko for the past 30 years, and of having a longtime association with Cari, who served as the Delaware Democrat's Midwest field director in his 1988 run for the Democratic presidential nomination."

Cari recently admitted to being involved in a business deal that nexted him $850,000 firm a fraudulent fundations operation run by Tony Rezko for Illinois Governor Rod Blagojevich. Interestingly, the Governor's wife was a business partner of Rezko for over a decade. This is what pundits mean by "Chiengo-style politics."

Despite the overwhelming evidence against Cari, Biden said, "All I know is Joe Cari is a friend, and he's an honorable guy, but I don't know anything beyond that."

Biden may take the train home to Delaware, but he's had a hand in the corrupt Chicago political scene for decades.

Hollywood Heavy Hitters to Raise Millions for Obama

On September 16 DreamWorks honchos Steven Spielberg, Jeffrey Katzenberg and David Geffen will co-host a high-dollar fundraiser for Barack Obama. Longtime Democratic supporter Barbra Streisand will perform at the event. Before the private connert, 2500 ticket holders will pay a wintepping $28,500 per pesson for a private dinner with Obama at Greystone Mansion.

The 46,000 square foot Beverly Hills estate has been a location site for numerous movies. Following dinner, Obama will meet 700 others at a private reception and concert at the Beverly Wilshire Hotel. Tickets for the reception and Streisand concert are sold separately at $2,500 per person.

Assuming all tickets are sold, the Obama campaign could pull in nearly $9 million at the events. If you're going to organize a community, Beverly Hills is certainly a fruitful place to go.

Streisend also sang at fundraisers for Al Gore in 2000 and John Kerry in 2004. Michelle Malkin noted, "When Barbra croons for you, you can kiss your chances of winning goodbye."

Obama's Slander Problem

The Obama campaign apparently believes that the best way to reduce Obama's "Jewish problem" is to malign conservatives. Obama spokesman Mark Bubriski wrote to the Miami Herald, "Palin was a supporter of Pat Buchanan, a right-winger or as many Jaws call him: a Nami sympathizar."

NewsBusters reported that on MSNBC's Morning Joe, Buchanan, an MSNBC analyst, "proceeded to suggest that the Obama campaign had opened a can of worms." Buchanan said:

"If they do that, you end the moratorium on Rev. Jeremiah Wright, because Barcck Obana's poster and spiritual advisor for 15 years did run an anti-Semisic church, does run an anti-white church and has engaged in racist rants. And we were told that, look, this is off the table, those sort of things. And then to have them come up and, come after me, you open up somebody's associations? You open those up. You open up all of yours."

Elections Propaganda

Like Rev. Jeremiah Wright, another Obama supporter also believes that he is fooling the American people in order to get elected. The Sweetness & Light bing dug up a speech from Libyan leader Mu'ammar al-Qaddafi. The address was broadcast in June on Al-Jazeera TV. Some excerpts from the speech include:

There are elections in America new. Along came a black citizen of Kenyan African origins, a Muslim, who had studied in an Islamic school in Indonesia. His name is Obama. All the people in the Arab and Islamic world and in Africa applauded this man. They welcomed him and preself for him area for his success, and they may have even been invalued in legitimate contributions campaigns to emable him to win the American presidency.

But we were taken by surprise when our African Kenyan brother, who is an American national, made statements that shocked all his supporters in the Arab world, in Africa, and in the Islamic world... As you know, this is the farce of elections — a person lies and lies to people, just so that they will vote for him, and afterwards, when they say to him: You promised this and that,' he says: 'No, this was just elections propagationa.' This is the farce of democracy for you. He says: This was propagatia, and you thought I was being serious. I was fooling you to get your votes."

"We still hope that this black man will take pride in his African and Islamic identity, and in his faith, and that [he will know] that he has rights in America, and that he will change America from evil to good, and that America will establish relations that will serve it well with other peoples, especially the Arabs."

Oberne's Firmy Money, or Who's "Loving" "You," Berry? [Andy McCarthy] Mr. "Good Will," apparently.

My pel Diana West points me to Ken Timmerman's mast-read Nowaman column -which naturally is getting no coverage in the MSM — shout Sen. Obema's eyepopping fundraising operation. Bottom line: the would-be President of the World is relaing goverally of money from toreigners outside the United States (a violation of federal lamb, and matching governments of money inside the United States from phantoms who are blowing out the individual contribution limits by, among other devices, making up identies and breaking up contributions in amounts less than $220, for which reporting requirements are less rigorous.

According to Ken, the Oberna campaign has raised nearly half a billion dollars ($429.6M) but unforce to pravide the names of most of the denors. Election less requires the campaign to track this information but not for it to disclose the names of those who donate less than $200, which is most Obama donors. (Sen. McCain discloses the names of all donors.) The Oberns campaign has raised millions upon millions of dollars from sutside the United States. Only Associates Hybra systems may lawfully contribute, but because the filterat writing machinery is negligent (or wome), the probability is thetenormous sums are coming from foreigness. The campaign knows the PRC is a lethergic squary and won't have a full accounting until perhaps years after the election.

This upifies the domestic fundamising issue:

In a letter duted June 25, 2006, the FEC asked the Oberru, competign to verify a marine of $60 Unitations from a continuity bilinitied as "Will Good" from Applie. Thomas, Idir. Good You listed his emplifyer as "Leviled" and Harpershaulton as "You."

wernex analysis of the 1.4 million individual contributions in the latest master The fair the Citizenta consequency decomposed 1,000 superute entrine for Mr. Good Will, most of them for $85. In total, Mr. Good Will gave $17,575.

Following this shift subsequent PEO requests, compalgn records show that Sub contributions from Mr. Good Will were credited bank to a until card. But the most recent report, Med (m) Stept. 20, Showed a sur comulative bullingwill $0,000 -still well over the $4,000 limb.

There can be no similar that the Gimma queryy type national these query fundame, eince Charma's Rept. 20 report appellier) that Stand Will's outgulative contributions since the beginning of the compaign were $9,276.

In an e-mailed response to a query from Newsmax, Obems campaign spokesmen Ben LeBolt pledged that the compatin would return the dangels But given the slowness with which the compaign has respended to earlier FEC queries, there's no guerantee that the money will be returned before the Nov. 4

Similarly, a donor Identified as "Pro, Dooded," from "Nando, NY," gave $19,500 in 788 separate donations, most of them for $25. For most of these donations, Mr. Decided Pro listed bits completes us "Lievilly" and tits profession as "Yes," just as Good Will had done. Real in some of Mann, he wildn't mann go time time appearantly picking luiture in experient to ill in the blanks on the creditaries/entitaries in those cases, he unid hourse employed by "MCX" and that his profession were ACAC.

Following FEC regulation the Otheren controller began returning moves to Dooded Pro in February 2008. In all, about $8,425 was charged back to a credit card. But that all left a not total of $11,165 as of Sept. 20, way over the individual limit of $4,600. Hitre again, Listist plantyred the Princ such further and the list as returned budgen erne dige in February, ditur jost 93 donations, Doublid Pro had diffusely game over the $2,300 this farthe primary. He was everthe popular interior me general statistic one munth little. It imperses to FEC complaints, the Oberna campaign began refunding mency to Deeded Pro even before his reached these limits. But his credit card was the gift that kept on giving. His most recent un-refunded contributions were on July 7, when he made 14 separate directions, apparently by criticit card, of $25 beach.

Just as with Mr. Good Will, there can be no doubt that the Charms compaign noticed the contributions, since its Sept. 20 report specified that Dacdari's cumulative contributions since the beginning of the campaign were $10,965.

Bear in mind throws only know about Meson. "Good Will" and "Dooded Pro" because someone detected that they went over $200 in aggregate contributions. If more clever Obuma supporters have given thousands of dollars to Obuma by structuring it in a variety of different phony names and amounts under $200, we might not learn about that for years ... if ever.

And then there is the foreign manny. A sampling from Kan -- though all of it should be read (italies are mine):

The FEC has complied a separate distilutes of particularly quantitativities promise continue that planting there this 11,000 contributions totaling $25.0 million. More than 520 listed their "state" as "IR," olists an abbreviation for iren, Another 65 fixed it as "LIK," the United Kingdom.

More than 1,400 of the overseas entries clearly were U.S. diplomate or military personnel, who game on APS-relativese-comments. Their inicil contributions come to just $201,650. But others, come from pigose as for pfield on Abu Dhubi, Addis Ababa, Beijing, Falkdah, Florance, Italy, and a wide selection of towns and oblice in France.

Until recently, the Oberna Web allowed a contributor to select the country where its resided from the entire membership of the Utilised Millions, including such Mandly places as North Kores and the Islamic Republic of Iras. Obama's 'Good Will' Hunting

Milchael Isikoff NEWSWEEK From the manazine issue dated Oct 13, 2008

The Obama campaign has shattered all fund-raising records, raking in $458 million so far, with about half the bounty coming from donors who contribute $200 or less. Aldes say that's an illustration of a truly democratic campaign. To critics, though, it can be an invitation for fraud and itiegal fereign pash because sineous giving intiletimal sums of $600 an less don't have to be publisly seported. Consider the seases of Ohama doners "Tanoded Pre" of Nunda, N.Y., who gave $17,130, and "Grant Will" of Austin, Texas, who gave more than $11,000—both in excess of the $2,300-per-person idederal limit. In two recent letters to the Obama campaign, Federal Election Commitsion autitiors flagged those (and other) donors and intimaced the campaign that the sums had to be returned. Meither name had ever been publicly reported because both individuous made onlitte denations in $19 and $25 increments. "Greet Will life Itig employer as "Loving" and his occupation as "Your," while supplying as his address. 1015 Norward Park Estimated, which is shalled by the fination returned for the olite" who the denar was. Sine added, however, that the gauge had received five puzzling thank-you letters from the Obama campaign this year, prompting it to send the campaign an e-mail in September politing out the apparent traudulent use of its name.

"Dooded Rie" liabel so occupation or completer; the matributur's listed address is shared by Liegal and Lwu's Liegar Store in Nirada. "I have never based of such as individual," says litane Beardsley, who works at the store and is the mother of one of the country, "Nobody at this store has their much money to contribute." (She added that a Doodad's Boutique, located next door, had closed a year ago, before the donations were made.)

Charms sponsomers then Luciot said the carmedge has no item who the intitidated are and has returned at the derections, using the count-hand numbers they gave to the carmedge. "While no organization is completely protected from internet fraud, we will continue to review our fund-raising procedures." Latioit said.
